1. Introduction

Tracy McSheery will give a presentation example of pre-visualization, showing work in progress on the full length animated movie Tower of the Dragon (<http://www.towerofthedragon.com> ) where tools readily available from commercial vendors (no specialized tools will be used to make the movie) from Autodesk, Otoy, HP, Nvidia and others will allow low cost productions of full animated movies. Special guests will be present during the talk, including celebrated author David Gerrold from Star Trek, STNG, The Martian Child, along with actors and production members.

2. Exposition

The Tower of the Dragon project will change the way animations are done, not by a single revolutionary step, but by starting fresh and taking advantage of the myriad hardware, software and production tools available and supported by the computer and games industries.
